CNE, CDE, PHNA-BC, TNS

Associate Professor
Saint Louis University

Trudy Busch Valentine School of Nursing

Objectives: At the end of the session, attendees will be able to:

1. Present the many roles and responsibilities of a nurse leader.
2. Illustrate and explain the necessary components of nursing leadership and mentoring.
3. Appraise how nursing leadership is comparable to other health disciplines' leadership.

Learning Outcome: By the end of the session, 75% of attendees will self-report that the increase in knowledge/information will enhance, validate, and/or change practice as it relates to examining nursing academic leadership and mentoring and the research that supports the development of the qualities needed in this specialized area. The participant will also appraise nursing leadership similarities to other health disciplines' leadership with an intent to incorporate the knowledge gained into their preclinical, clinical, and academic practice.

Approval Statement: Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center El Paso is accredited as a provider of Nursing Continuing Professional Development (NCPD) by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

Contact Hours: 1 contact hour

Criteria for awarding ANCC nursing credit:
